Specialist
dedicated

BRC is a long-established and much respected specialist in the UK's social housing and care sector, placing talented individuals with registered social landlords, local authorities and charitable organisations alike.

Our expertise is underscored by a proven track record in salary benchmarking, redeployment and redundancy advice, as well as staff and tenant training.

We assess and fulfil demand for clients in housing management, supported housing, housing needs, development, resident involvement, revenues & benefits and Social Care. We also recruit for the support functions that underpin these organisations: human resources, accountancy and finance, marketing and PR, business development, procurement and tendering, IT support, customer service and administration support.

integrity

We apply a personal, honest approach to match hard-working, talented individuals to hard-working talented organisations. We are committed to the belief that excellent recruiting outcomes can only be achieved upon a foundation of trust between ourselves and our clients and candidates, both in terms of expertise and in the way we conduct ourselves.

BRC was created in 1999 as the 'Building Recruitment Company', but we quickly found that our friendly, collaborative way of doing things was particularly beneficial for social housing and care clients. We decided thereafter to commit ourselves to developing our expertise for the sector. To this day, that focus propagates a culture of professional insight and genuine enthusiasm that pervades throughout the business, ensuring junior members mature into experienced practitioners with a sensitivity to both the market and their clients. It's a culture that also understands that long term relationships foster better results and provide crucial continuity for our clients.

reliable

We don't pretend to be all things to all people – there's simply no way to maintain the high standards of service and results we set ourselves by following that route. We specialise where we have a proven track record and depth of insight and knowledge to offer, but we service that sector comprehensively, from graduate to mission-critical boardroom appointments.

Our offices are strategically placed across England and Wales to ensure we can tailor our services not only to individual clients but also with a regard to the region in which they work.

Our talent pool is tens-of-thousands strong and gains hundreds of new candidates each month, with individuals available for short and long term contracts from all disciplines and at all levels of seniority. It's encouraging to know that the majority contact us following recommendations from clients and other candidates.

Our down-to-earth, open approach creates a hugely positive dynamic between ourselves, our clients and our candidates, in which we are happily relied on for our capability, respected for our experience and trusted to assess, manage and deliver the right people at the right time to serve our clients' needs.

Through consistent, diligent consultancy, we have established a reputation as a high quality provider and honest, principled partner.
